Summary

In all, there were 19 reported incidents of global piracy and robbery at sea in July 2012. Of those, one hijack occurred, 16 attacks and/or robberies and 2 suspicious activities were recorded.

East Africa where there has been no successful hijack since June 19, when a fishing dhow was seized, and no ship has been fired upon or a boarding attempted since June 26, says IMB.

It marks the longest unbroken stretch of peaceful transit through the waters off Somalia, and has been attributed to the increased use of armed guards on ships, international naval patrols, and bad weather. The only activity has been 2 robberies, one suspicious event in the Red Sea and an approach in the Gulf of Aden.

West Africa, saw five incidents, but this month spread between Guinea, Cote d'Ivoire, Togo and Benin rather than just Nigeria. One suspicious incident occurred off Togo.

In Asia, a slight fall in the number of incidents to six, however, a hijack took place of a tug boat and barge with the crew being set adrift in a lifeboat by the pirates. The crew were later rescued. The vessels whereabouts have been unknown since 27 July.

South America moved up with 2 reported incidents occurring in July after no reported incidents in June.

Situational mapping in the following pages indicate the approximated positions of recorded incidents, wherever possible. (Note: NS = Not Shown).

OCEANUSLive Crowdsourced Information.

OCEANUSLive endeavours to provide reporting of piracy and robbery at sea incidents in an effort to increase situational awareness, and subsequently Maritime Domain Awareness.

OCEANUSLive does not replace reporting processes already in place by regional, maritime and military authorities. It is supplementary enabling other organisations, authorities and relevant commercial entities (such as ship owners, ship operators, ship agents, MARSEC firms, etc.) and other publicly available sources to input additional data where possible.

OCEANUSLive does not, in general, conduct analysis on patterns and trends, nor make recommendations. Information is provided to enable interested parties to do so themselves. No responsibility is accepted for the accuracy of reports gained through sources.
